About the Program

Captivating! Stirring! Inspiring! An exceptional program of songs and images! Haunting modal melodies. An ancient ballad said to have been Lincoln's mother's favorite song. Amazing patter song about six failed attempts to take Richmond. Lincoln's final visit to Ford's Theater.

Join us for an evening with internationally touring ballad singer Judy Cook. Dressed in 1860's style and accompanying the songs with projected images, historic details, and concertina tunes, Judy Cook weaves a unique and unforgettable program.

About the Artist

Judy Cook comes from the Washington, DC area where she was nominated Best Female Vocalist in Traditional Folk. She sings each year on tours to other areas of America and to the UK. Louis Killen, himself one of the most respected singers of English traditional song, said of Judy, "Her depth of understanding and storytelling ability in ballad form is rivaled only by her dedication to the music and her willingness to do her research." Judy has three CDs of songs & ballads, "If You Sing Songs.", "Far From The Lowlands", "Tenting Tonight: Songs of the Civil War", and "Lincoln's America". This latest was released in September 2009. Learn more about Judy and her singing at her website www.JudyCook.net.

About Traditional Singers Club Concerts

Traditional Singers Club concerts always open with performances by "resident" club singers as well as an impromptu song or two from selected "floor" singers.
